“JENNIFER FELLER”

Art has been a passion for Jennifer all her life. Growing up near the artists' colony of Montsalvat, north-east of Melbourne, she came from a family of artists and went on to train as a graphic designer.

After working as a graphic artist in Melbourne and London, she married and started a family, whilst designing children's wear, working as an interior decorator and then producing a range of decorative homewares. It was not until four years ago that she began painting in oils full time. Since then she has won a number of awards and her work appears in private collections in Australia and overseas.

Jennifer's current interest is in tonal impression, working from her garden studio in the Dandenong Ranges. “My painting is purely emotional and from the heart,” Jennifer says. “I rejoice in the light, colour and atmosphere of what surrounds me.”

Many of her paintings' subject matter are still life as well as producing work on commission.
